

Passing on knowledge and experience – one-on-one

The fast pace of learning in business today requires more and more personalized services. Learning is most efficient and effective when we can benefit from the experience of others, and from the exchange of thoughts and considerations. Both personal and professional growth occurs when these discussions are timely, clear, and constructive.

Consenec's experienced managers have both explicit and implicit knowledge of a wide range of areas and situations. They're flexible, understand the complexities of national and international business operations - and have contributed in promoting the development and professional success of employees in their companies. Our managers are trusted individuals who share their knowledge and experience to support others - and to help clients find their own solutions to move forward.

Individual Consulting to Support Professional Development

Who

The service is geared toward managers who strive to continually improve their performance, who value personal growth, and who want to reflect, learn, and develop new ideas in discussion with an experienced consultant.

Managers in a new or changed role who want to be ready to act and make decisions as soon as possible.

How

The service is designed as one-on-one consulting: individual, arranged on short notice based on client's needs. After assessing the situation in the first meeting, expectations are discussed and topics defined. These topics then form the focus of several sessions that take place over just a few weeks. The overall duration of Consenec Individual Consulting is adjusted as the situation requires.

What

Consenec managers support the client with their explicit and implicit knowledge, management skills and experience to achieve fast and targeted results. Confidentiality is a matter of course.

Benefits

Consenec Individual Consulting is tailored to the situation and to the client as a person. Promptly agreed, the service ensures targeted, professional know-how acquisition. Experience is passed on in a supportive way. Consenec Individual Consulting fits in the busiest of schedules, as flexible in terms of schedules.

Qualifications

Our managers have hands-on experience and skills in many business areas. They provide tried-and-trusted solutions.
